

STATEMENT OF FUNCTIONS

FUNCTIONAL BRANCH

(Psychological Intelligence Division)

The Functional Branch is responsible for collaborating with the Plans and Policy Staff and the Regional Branches of the Psychological Intelligence Division in the development of psychological intelligence and psychological warfare intelligence production programs; for producing, or requesting the production of psychological intelligence on their own initiative, to meet production programs, or to meet specific requests; for specialized methodological studies pertaining to psychological intelligence and psychological warfare; and for providing technical and methodological guidance to ORE components engaged in psychological intelligence production. In fulfilling these broad responsibilities the Functional Branch will:

1. In collaboration with other components of the Psychological Intelligence Division and ORE, and through liaison with other governmental organizations, determine the requirements for psychological intelligence.
2. Collaborate with the Plans and Policy Staff in the development of Psychological Intelligence production programs in implementation of ORE's mission, and to meet the requirements of US psychological warfare policies, plans, programs, and operations.
3. Produce, or request the production of psychological warfare intelligence to meet such programs, or to fulfill specific requests from US psychological warfare agencies.

SECRET

4. Develop criteria, methods, and guidances for the study and production of psychological intelligence by other ORE components.

5. Prepare estimates of reactions of foreign targets to prospective US psychological warfare objectives and of the probable results such objectives, themes and instruments intended to achieve .

6. Prepare estimates of the results of psychological warfare operations and programs to determine if US psychological warfare plans and objectives in foreign areas have been met.

7. Make recommendations to US psychological warfare organizations based on the conclusions of technical study regarding target populations, themes, instruments, etc., for psychological operations designed to achieve US psychological warfare objectives.

8. Develop requirements for information, intelligence, and external research needed for the production of psychological intelligence, and review such requirements originating in other ORE components.

9. Review all psychological intelligence produced by other ORE, CIA, and IAC components.

25X1X4

11. Conduct liaison with governmental and external organizations performing work of value in the field of psychological intelligence and psychological warfare.

SECRET

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

17 October 1950

STATEMENT OF FUNCTIONS

CULTURE AND SOCIETY SECTION
(Psychological Intelligence Division)

The Culture and Society Section is responsible for the psychological intelligence aspects of a) communism and religions, and of b) international relations and politics of non-Soviet areas; and for the inter-regional and methodological aspects of psychological intelligence on the cultures, societies, classes, occupations, and ethnic groups in foreign areas. In fulfilling these responsibilities the Culture and Society Section will:

1. Continually assess situations, trends, and developments in foreign areas relating to those psychological intelligence fields described above.
2. Determine the function, contribution, and role of the methodological considerations and specialties above and recommend their use in the production of psychological intelligence.
3. Ascertain in collaboration with the Plans and Policy Staff and through liaison, the requirements for psychological intelligence and psychological warfare intelligence in these fields.
4. Collaborate with the Plans and Policy Staff in developing psychological intelligence production programs, and with the Psychological Warfare Section, in determining the intelligence production programs to meet US psychological warfare objectives, plans and operations.

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

5. Produce intelligence reports and estimates on the following subjects, calling upon the regional branches of the Psychological Intelligence Division or other ORE components for intelligence support as required:

- a. non-Soviet Orbit international relations
- b. religion and Communism
- c. inter-regional aspects of cultures, societies, classes, occupations, and ethnic groups.

6. Develop requirements for the collection of information and for research needed for the production of psychological intelligence in these fields, and review such requirements originating in other ORE components.

7. With respect to its fields of responsibility, continuously examine the analytical and production methods and techniques employed by other Psychological Intelligence Division components and recommend improvements.

8. Examine in the light of its specialized competence and make recommendations to the Psychological Warfare Section regarding target populations, themes, and instruments for psychological warfare operations designed to achieve US objectives.

9. Assist the Psychological Warfare Section in estimating the reactions of foreign targets to prospective psychological warfare objectives, and in estimating the probable effectiveness of themes and instruments intended to achieve such objectives.

SECRET

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

10. Assist the Psychological Warfare Section in analyzing and assessing the results of psychological warfare operations and programs to determine whether US psychological warfare plans and objectives in foreign areas have been met.

11. Review all intelligence produced by other ORE, CIA, and IAC components relating to its field of responsibility.

12. Continuously analyze and assess current methods and techniques related to the study of intelligence in these fields.

13. Conduct liaison with governmental organizations engaged in work in this field and obtain expert consultation from individuals performing work of value in this field.

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

SECRET

17 October 1950

STATEMENT OF FUNCTIONS

PSYCHOLOGICAL TECHNIQUES SECTION
(Psychological Intelligence Division)

The Psychological Techniques Section is responsible for the technical and methodological consideration of psychological intelligence, with 25X1X4 special reference to the following fields: 25X1X4

25X1X4
In fulfilling these responsibilities, the Psychological Techniques Section will:

1. Continually assess situations, trends, and developments in foreign areas in order to determine the function, contribution, and role of the specialties above in the production of psychological intelligence.
2. Collaborate with the Plans and Policy Staff and other components of the Psychological Intelligence Division in the development of plans for the production of psychological intelligence to meet ORE's primary mission, and with the Psychological Warfare Section in the development of plans for the production of psychological warfare intelligence to meet the intelligence requirements of United States psychological warfare objectives and plans.
3. Produce, or request the production of intelligence relating to those specialties above.

SECRET

SECRET

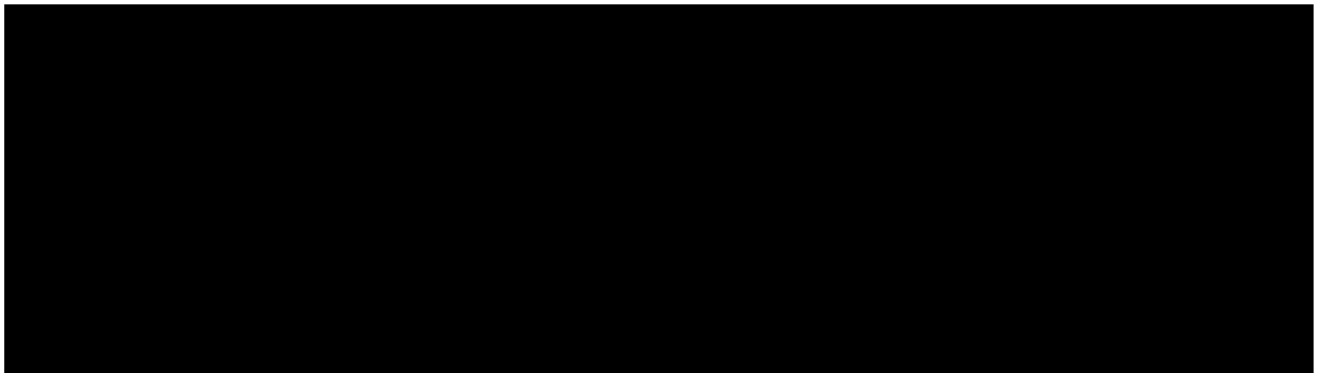

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

4. Assist regional branches of the Psychological Intelligence Division and other ORE components to secure access to and interpretation of the results of specialized studies in the above technical fields relating to their geographic areas.

5. Assist the Psychological Warfare Section in estimating the reactions of foreign targets to prospective United States psychological warfare plans and programs, and in estimating the probable success of themes and instruments embodying them.

6. Assist the Psychological Warfare Section in analyzing and assessing the results of psychological warfare operations and programs to determine if United States objectives have been met.

25X1X4RD

8. Conduct liaison with government organizations and obtain expert consultants from private institutions and organizations as required to keep abreast of current methods, techniques, and studies.

9. Develop and review requirements for the collection of information and for research needed for the analysis and production of intelligence related to its field of responsibility.

10. Based on its technical studies regarding target populations, themes, instruments, etc., make recommendations to the Psychological Warfare Section

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

for psychological warfare operations designed to achieve United States psychological warfare objectives.

11. Continuously examine the analytical and production methods and techniques related to its field of responsibility that are employed by other ORE components and recommend improvements.

12. Review all intelligence produced by other ORE, CIA, and IAC components relating to the specialized responsibilities of this section.

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

17 October 1950

STATEMENT OF FUNCTIONS

PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE SECTION
(Psychological Intelligence Division)

The Psychological Warfare Section is responsible for collaborating with the Plans and Policy Staff, ORE, in the development of intelligence production programs to meet the intelligence requirements of the United States for psychological warfare plans, programs, and operations; for producing, or arranging for the production of, intelligence to meet such requirements; for preparing estimates of the reactions to United States psychological warfare programs and for surveying the effects of such programs; and for guiding ORE components engaged in the production of intelligence for psychological warfare purposes. In fulfilling these broad responsibilities the Psychological Warfare Section will:

1. Continually survey situations, trends, and developments in foreign areas to determine psychological factors susceptible to United States psychological warfare operations, requesting as required, detailed, scientific analyses of those situations by Psychological Intelligence Division components and other components of ORE.
2. Produce or request the production of intelligence on situations susceptible to psychological warfare treatment, and coordinate ORE intelligence production relevant to such situations.

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

3. Ascertain in collaboration with the Plans and Policy Staff and through liaison with United States psychological warfare organizations, the requirements for psychological warfare intelligence production.
4. Collaborate with the Plans and Policy Staff in the development of production programs to meet psychological warfare intelligence requirements.
5. Review specific requests on ORE for intelligence production in support of United States psychological warfare operations.
6. In collaboration with the Psychological Techniques Section and other CIA components, develop programs and methods for estimating the probable results of psychological warfare themes, and the instruments embodying them, and make comparative evaluations of media and channels best suited for given psychological warfare programs, projects, or undertakings.
7. In collaboration with the Psychological Techniques Section and other CIA components, develop programs and methods for the analysis of the results of psychological warfare operations to determine if United States psychological warfare plans and objectives in foreign areas have been met.
8. Based upon studies accomplished above, produce intelligence estimates of the reliability and expected results of present and prospective psychological warfare plans, programs, and themes.
9. Develop criteria, methods, and guides required for the analysis by regional branches of the Psychological Intelligence Division of situations exploitable through psychological warfare.
10. Coordinate, review, and transmit to United States psychological warfare organizations intelligence on the targets, themes, and instruments suggested by psychological intelligence specialists in other components of the Psychological Intelligence Division and other ORE components.

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

11. Review all psychological intelligence produced by other ORE, CIA, and IAC components.
12. Develop requirements for collecting information and for research required for psychological warfare intelligence and review such requirements originated in other ORE components.
13. Continuously analyze and assess current methods and techniques pertaining to psychological warfare and psychological warfare intelligence.
14. Conduct liaison as required with governmental organizations engaged in psychological warfare planning and operations, and with external research organizations performing work of value in the field.

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

~~SECRET~~

17 October 1950

STATEMENT OF FUNCTIONS

REGIONAL BRANCHES
(Psychological Intelligence Division)

As the components of the Psychological Intelligence Division with the primary responsibility for the production of psychological intelligence, the Regional Branches will:

1. Through scientific investigation and examination, analyze and assess the psychological intelligence aspects of foreign situations, trends, and developments.
2. Produce, or request the production of intelligence designed to estimate the psychological effects and implications of United States policies and courses of action in foreign areas.
3. Produce, or request the production of intelligence designed to estimate the psychological effects and implications of the policies and courses of action of foreign nations upon other foreign nations in terms of United States policies, programs, and courses of action.
4. Produce basic country psychological intelligence studies.
5. Produce psychological intelligence required for United States psychological warfare plans, programs, and operations, upon its own initiative, or at the request of the Psychological Warfare Section.
6. Collaborate with other components of the Psychological Intelligence Division and the Plans and Policy Staff in developing plans for the production of psychological intelligence to meet the ORE mission and to meet the intelligence requirements of United States psychological warfare plans, programs, and operations.

SECRET

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7

7. Develop and transmit to appropriate components of the Psychological Intelligence Division for review, requirements for information, intelligence, and external research necessary for the production of psychological intelligence.

8. In collaboration with other Psychological Intelligence Division components, develop methods and techniques required for the examination and analysis of psychological aspects of intelligence relating to geographic areas.

9. Assist the Psychological Warfare Section in analyzing and assessing the reactions of foreign targets to prospective psychological warfare objectives and in estimating themes and instruments intended to achieve such objectives.

10. Assist the Psychological Warfare Section in analyzing and assessing the results of psychological warfare operations and programs to determine whether United States psychological warfare plans and objectives in foreign areas have been met.

11. Make recommendations to the Psychological Warfare Section from a regional standpoint regarding target populations, themes, instruments, etc., for psychological warfare operations to achieve United States objectives in this field.

12. Review all psychological intelligence produced by other ORE, CIA, and IAC components.

13. Continuously assess current methods and techniques related to the analysis and production of psychological intelligence.

14. Conduct liaison as required.

SECRET

Approved For Release 1999/09/08 : CIA-RDP79-01143A000300090004-7